

Submitting Manuscripts

Only original unpublished manuscripts of sufficient quality, that meet the aims and scope of the LuxFass project will be accepted and reviewed.

The team members of the project and all the participants of the academic events organised within the project are encouraged to submit their original work in the section „working papers” on the Luxfass project website. The electronic/hard copy versions of working papers are all catalogued. Most current working papers are catalogued and available in the NEC library.

The “working papers” section uses a peer-review system. Manuscripts submitted by a junior member of the team will be reviewed by a member of the Academic Advisory Board of the Project and her/his senior coordinator. Manuscripts of the senior members of the team and of the external participants will be reviewed by the Academic Advisory Board of the Project.
